Comments: I am a trustee of the Dinting Playing Fields Trust, who are the landlords of the grounds leased to Dinting Cricket Club.

We have looked at the plans for the houses on the site of the old Zion church and feel that owing to the proximity of the proposed housing that about six of the new houses could be in danger of being hit by a cricket ball from the wicket on the cricket ground. This could also damage vehicles and more worrying, people in the area.

The old Zion church did not suffer any damage, as the roofs were slate, and the few windows had wire mesh covering them. The walls were dressed stone.

We propose that the builder should, as part of the planning permission for this new development, build a 'cricket ball stopping' fence to minimise any future damage. This fence should be built at the builders expense and a sum be in place in trust for future maintenance.

We would consider the fence to be allowed to be built where our existing boundary fence is located.

In my opinion the fence would have to at least 15 metres high and 40 metres in length.
