Submission: Objection

Comments: The wall was original to the curtilage of the building and the cement repairs were done to the wall as repair work, it is quite obvious that the current owners don't want to reinstate the wall as it was , with a gate because they want to change the level of the lane with the gravel they've put there and use the driveway which was put in when the dry stone wall was removed, the original stone for the wall is still in the ground with pictures to prove, they have also provided a picture, they say , which is current, this is not a current picture at all, I will provide current pictures, you can also see that a block paving style drive has been laid which is horrendous and takes everything away from my house and there's
