Comments: Bridgeholme Mill is on the OS map of 1882 so it has been an industrial site for a very long time. It is not near residential development so the proposal would cause little disturbance. The company is an important local employer, and its products replace imports so it has national significance. The expansion on site into a new warehouse and the installation of modern machinery is good news both for the business and for the area, as it will produce more jobs and improve the job security of those working there, most of whom live very locally, thus reducing the carbon imprint of travel to work. I support this proposal wholeheartedly.
