Comments: This is currently an attractive area of countryside with many wild animals including deer living in it. The development would destroy their habits and the view of the area. This development would cause a negative visual impact.

The local area is already massively overdeveloped without any supporting services. Schools are already over prescribed. There are not enough secondary school places for the children in the area. There are not enough doctors or dentists in the area to cope with current demand another 100 houses could potentially add another 400 people to the population making it virtually impossible to access these services. There are limited leisure facilities in the local area, waiting times for kids swimming lessons can be 12 months.

All of this is on top of the major distribution which would be caused during the building process to a road (A57) which is already always gridlocked. The additional housing and cars that go with it would cause major delays in getting in and out of glossop. I just don't see how the local area can take more development without it having major detrimental effects on the existing residents. This needs considering over the money making of the development company.
