Comments: I wish to object to this application on several grounds, the first being it is totally not needed, there is already an under utilised camping & caravan site directly opposite & a further camp site at Combs which is more than sufficient for this area. The noise, increase traffic & no doubt litter would ruin a beautiful rural landscape. Secondly it would be detrimental to the now greatly increased number of Chapel residents who frequently enjoy using this area for daily exercise for themselves & dogs. Residents need more green landscapes not less to counter for the loss of vast swathes of green fields already lost to housing development in the immediate area. Thirdly as there are no services at all it would require enormous disruption to install them which I fear is the main reason for this application to prepare it for yet another attempt to achieve planning permission for more housing.

Every small green field in Chapel en le Frith does not need to be developed, most people live in the area because it is rural (although only semi rural now) & want & need to enjoy nature in their immediate surroundings.

I do not believe this application has any merit & should be rejected.
