Submission: Objection

Comments: I would like to express my objection to the proposed development.

Traffic through Dinting is already considerable, causing problems for pedestrians, children walking to school, residents attempting to access their properties.

The proposed access opposite Dinting Church is likely to increase all of these problems.

The construction work, and the resultant increase in traffic will raise particulate pollution.

Building on the Adderley fields may also increase the risk of flooding by preventing rain water from soaking away.

The fields contribute greatly towards the health and well-being of residents. They are used for recreation, dog-walking, horse pasture and as an adjunct to the Gameslwy trail. We are meant to be enhancing the physical and mental well-being of local people and green spaces contribute to that well-being.

Deer have been seen in these fields and these, of course, will be driven out.

The infrastructure of this area is also bowing under pressure. There are considerable waiting times for primary school places; doctors appointments; dental places.

Of course, people need houses, and the council needs money, but there are no affordable houses planned, and the council is rapidly destroying everything that contributes to the pleasure of living in areas such as Simmondley, Dinting and Glossop by paving over life and nature enhancing areas.

This is a time when we should all be considering environmental impacts, and destroying green spaces, encouraging more traffic and pollution into this area, and over-burdening the community infrastructure ignores all such efforts towards encouraging a more sustainable and pleasurable lifestyle for our town.
