Comments: There are few green spaces left in Glossop and building more houses on it is a terrible idea, the schools, doctors, dentists (we have to go to Buxton) are all full. The roads are always blocked with the high number of cars and the proposed access road onto the a57 will only make this worse and being opposite a primary school is dangerous, with cars pulling out in a rush. Not to mention the land floods often and with 100 houses on this will cause the flooding further down the hill onto the houses already there
