Subject: HPK/2023/0003 10, Holker Road, Buxton. Small rear extension, slightly larger than the existing porch - archaeology
Date: 08 March 2023 14:41:30

Dear Declan,

Thank you for consulting on the above planning application. The proposal site is within the Council's Area of Archaeological Interest associated with the Roman settlement in Buxton, and is just immediately adjacent to an entry on Derbyshire Historic Environment Record for Roman finds discovered during the construction of Holker Road in 1903 (MDR320).

The proposed porch however involves only very minor ground disturbance to an already disturbed area mostly within the footprint of an existing porch and presumably on relatively shallow footings. I do not feel in this instance that an archaeological response is justified under the policies at NPPF chapter 16.

Regards
