Comments: I'd like to re-iterate my comments from the first application. Glossop does not need more houses until the current traffic infrastructure is addressed. At the moment there is little room for passing vehicles in and around the proposed site. The new application from Glossop Eden Ltd does not address this issue, mainly due, I'm guessing to the fact that they are based in London and not familiar with the area. They have adjusted the application to include a one bedroom house and a new parking space. Glossop Eden are trying to tick the boxes with no real consideration or thought for the local area or residents. The pressure on local amenities and facilities has already had a detrimental effect on the high street and surrounding area. The primary concern for Glossop Eden is not the local community but profit at any cost.
