Comments: Firstly Buxton Press business has expanded beyond the site capability and the business is trying to squeeze more into a limited space.

This planning application is a case in point - aiming to reduce the parking to provide more functional capacity.

There is only loading bay and this results in numerous lorries parked along Palace Road.

I contact Buxton Press on a regular basis to notify them that lorries are parked on double yellow lines outside my house and sometimes blocking my drive - and with their engine running.

I sometimes take it upon myself to speak to the driver direct but they find the set up as irritating as I do.

I object to this planning proposal because the removal of parking spaces within the Buxton Press site can only make the current poor situation even worse.

The best outcome for me would be for Buxton Press to relocate to a site with enough space and access for the lorries that service their business.

Any other solution is like putting sticking plaster to solve the problem.
