Comments: I be live a stones throw away from here - resident s have had no consultation what so ever . The roads just cannot support heavy vehicles. These a often single track country lanes . There seems to be a very strange tone to Furness Vale where firms seem to think they can get away with any thing , look at the previous Dolly lane proposals for a solar farm (quashed) and currently the lithium battery farm proposals in Marsh lane . Is it because we are semi rural and these companies think they won't get opposition ? There is is done thing sinister here and I strongly object to this panning proposal
