Comments: There are many potential uses for the housing referred to in the application. There's a case for a dispersal centre for. However I feel there's more of a case for housing people from the local areas as a stepping stone for young adults seeking to gain independence but usable it through the housing or rentals market due to their lack of finances. It could also be a refuge for homeless people or a safe place for people who are under threat where they're presently living. I would also state that if people from Ukraine wishing to move from their war torn country would be a higher priority then other refugees.
