Comments: If this is passed and the halls become an asylum dispersal centre then this will be detrimental to the town of Buxton. The area in which the halls are located already has a problem with anti social behaviour which will only get worse if this goes ahead. There isn't the infrastructure in place to support the people of Buxton as it is not to mention the numerous houses that are being built already adding to the problem. The town relies heavily on tourism which will decline causing a hit to the local economy. As a parent I would also be concerned about the safety of my family as well. I understand the council tax generated by the building would be substantial but at what cost. Buxton would become a shadow of its former self with no tourism, shops stood empty, house prices lower than ever and more anti social behaviour than an already stretched police force can cope with. As a lifelong resident of Buxton I'd like to think the councillors that are trying to force this through will listen to the people that elected them and do what's best for the town rather than just being driven by the money.
