Comments: A high concentration of refugees right in the centre of town will impact Buxton's ability to attract tourists. So many people unable to work hanging around the town centre may well lead to trouble. There is already immense pressure on school places, access to doctors and dentists and mental health services, not to mention social services and the police. Such a large concentration of refugees will have a massive impact on a small market town. Derby university promised to bring prosperity to Buxton with higher education students. Their involvement with the town.
