Enquiry details

I have been sent a letter of consultation on planning application for next door neighbours to build decking at the end of their garden. I am objecting this application as the land does not belong to them.

They have extended their boundary line by building a fence onto public land. I was advised a while ago by Andy Thomas,

Compliance and Monitoring Officer that 'a breach of planning would occur if the use of land changes from its current form e.g. building decking'. This garden extension reaches beyond our boundary fence at the end of our garden (we are direct next door neighbours) and is visible from our property.
