Submission: Objection

Comments: As residents of the Peak District, we have a collective responsibility to protect and retain greenfield sites and agricultural land from development. On entering the picturesque village of Combs, the siting of these containers and the newly created entrance where hedgerows have been removed is a total eyesore. This is not in keeping with the local area we all take pride in caring for. Planting of daffodils in the grass verges, memorial benches and planters, lamp post poppies and a Platinum Jubilee brazier are examples of how residents keep Combs welcoming and picturesque for everyone.

Combs Road is a fast road, frequented by walkers, narrow, with dangerous bends and without a footpath. Any additional entrances and vehicles onto the road will increase the risk of a potential collision. We can only assume that the siting of the containers and the widening of the entrance is to accommodate greater access and therefore an increase in commercial vehicles.

I believe that if a planning application had been proposed in the proper manner it would have been rejected. Retrospective planning should be declined.
