Comments: I was surprised to see the plans for the building, as I had assumed the site would be developed into another small housing estate. I love the mill building and feel that it represents the history of New Mills as a canal/Mill Town. It is definitely more attractive than the Swizzles building and I am glad to see it being restored in a way that also brings much needed jobs and trade to the area. I had feared that a large property developer would buy the site and cram as many houses as possible onto it.

The site already seems to be clean and tidy and feels more secure than the abandoned area it had become. It is good to see the area being rejuvenated without ruining the character of the Town.
