Submission: Objection

Comments: With parking already a premium at the moment, where on earth are potentially upto 6 cars going to park, if this is turned into 3 terraced houses. We already have builder's vehicles parking on pavements, to renovate houses in the area, so turning out on to a main road is already fraught, without adding more buildings, vehicles and people into the mix.

I am not against the idea of houses there, but I feel that sorting out that parking issue is a much greater concern right now, than adding extra traffic and houses into the situation.
