Comments: Fitness in mind has taken an otherwise unused dwelling and given it purpose and has ensured that it is cared for to a high standard. It is my understanding that the landlord also now has plans to renovate the rest of the building and give it purpose again since the takeover by fitness in mind has been so successful. Fitness in mind offer a unique opportunity for people of all fitness levels to meet, working on their physical and mental health which ultimately saves the council money in NHS costs. The building works in the back area are sympathetic to the environment with use of the natural materials in the wood and in my opinion looks very striking against the stone. The area was otherwise abandoned and in my opinion, an eyesore. The better the area is cared for and has purpose the less likely it is to suffer from incidents of crime. I ask to look at the planning request favourably.
