Submission: Objection

Comments: The sheer size of the proposed buildings are ridiculous. I believe the building will block out our evening sun. The main reason for buying this house was the south facing garden. there is no need for such height if there going to be single ground floor use buildings

There appears to be no mention of any restrictions to working hours - whilst the development is happening or when the buildings are sold. The area is surrounded by residential property's

The living retaining wall - who going to maintain it? or is it going to be left to overgrow

The land drain to be installed at the back of the netherfield property's - Has a survey been done to assess if this will affect the retaining walls of netherfield?
