Comments: The buildings suggested in the application are going to create a visual eye sore due to the height of the tallest building at over 8m. Although there is already some non-residential buildings there that are run down this is not the same as large units which exceed 8m. Buildings that are going to have such an impact on the residential area should not be allowed to be made that high.

If there is to be renovation of this area it needs to be done more sensitively to the surrounding residences and the character of the area. As homeowners we do not want to see our house prices drop due to the visual feel of the area being impacted by these tall units.
