Comments: National Highways has been looking to develop a new bypass and relief road in the are for several years, with a route protection boundary line in place since 2018, this boundary line extends along Woolley Bridge up and beyond the boundary of this application.

As part of the works a new signalised junction is planned within approx. 100m of this proposed development along with a new road to reduce traffic using Woolley Lane, planning permission for the scheme was given in November 2022 via a DCO, with works scheduled to commence in 2024.

National Highways has not ben consulted on this matter and the proximity of the proposed new access to the new traffic signalised junctions needs to be assessed to ensure this does not affect access/egress from the proposed development and also to ensure this does not affect the optimisation of the new junction.

I have meet recently with the developer and have requested a AutoCAD drawing of the access arrangements so that this can be modelled, until this is complete I would request any formal decision is deferred until this potential conflict is fully assessed
