Comments: The proposed development of a single storey side extension for a garage and front door will enhance the appearance of the house next door, attached to mine.

The extension is to be built of the same stone as the main house, and will replace the existing conservatory which does not match the Victorian facade.

There is a very large driveway area at the side of Number 18, and if the proposed garage is built, there will still be parking space for several cars.

There was previously a detached asbestos garage on the driveway, which was removed 9 years ago.

Incorporating a front door facing the road will eliminate the confusion for post and deliveries, which often end up through my letterbox or on my doorstep, as the existing entrance into the conservatory does not look like a front door.
