Comments: The A6 leading into Buxton is a nightmare for traffic and congratulations the best of times, adding another 100+ houses is just adding another 100+ cars to the ongoing problem. Also the ground below (Hogshaw park) and the area around is a flood risk the river that runs down through Lightwood Road has broken its banks a couple of times now. I work along the common and see daily just how much water runs down towards where these houses are going to be built. Once the fields are all built on and there's no where for all the water to run where is it going to end up?.

Has anyone thought about the town's infrastructure? The schools are full, can't get into a dentist, if you need to see a GP you better hope you can last at least a month.

Instead of ruining Greenland and destroying wildlife habitats why not put the funding into restoring all the derelict buildings going to waste? Or is there just no money in that?
