Comments: The proposed shop frontage is out of character with the other shops in the area (some of which have recently been restored) and contrary to the current incentive to restore local shopfronts and preserve the character of the town.

This building dates from 1788, a similar age to the Sun Inn opposite and was built at the same time as The Crescent when the High Street was being improved by the Devonshire Estate. It is part of the town's history.

The frontage that was removed should be restored to be in keeping with the neighbouring shops and preserve the street scape.
