Submission: Objection

Comments: The site is like an eye sore for the surrounding area the owners have no interest in the visual or natural environment, the caravan has been there several years already and contravenes the existing planning application. The owners have a guard dog permanently on site which causes a nuisance at all times of the day. There should have been a hedge planted in the original planning application which was not done. The camp site is not used and only two tents have been on the site in three years. The site is used for storage and farming equipment and a way to bypass planning and building regulations. A site visit should be made before any decision is made.
