Comments: I believe the essie grill is in a fair situated position for passing trade although in spring gardens itself would be a better location for passing trade.

I believe the food being made is freshly prepared not stored cooked like some other places.

Prior to the essie grill this spot has been a epic pizza for a good few years, it's only right that a growing business needs to expand.

The difference between the old planning application and this one is only a few metres in size and I can't see it being refused especially with mcdonalds coming... now mcdonalds will be an eyesore to buxton
