Comments: It is considered that the key architectural elements of front of the building would be retained so there is no objection to the proposed alterations, but the use of timber windows and doors should be considered rather than the proposed aluminium as this would be more appropriate for a listed building in this location. With regard to the internal alterations, it is not possible to comment on these, so we should request that the HPBC Conservation Officer considers whether the proposed subdivisions within the existing space are appropriate and sympathetic to the architectural and historic interest of the building. With regard to the proposed signs, whilst these are modern in appearance their scale, siting and design is considered to be acceptable.
