Comments: The new factory is being built to assist cement production. I believe this CO2 production causes cement to be a waste product that requires to be piped underground 100s of miles under pressure and stored in underwater containers.. one of these being more ombr bay . I wholeheartedly object to cement being captured and moved and stored in this way. There are safer more environmentally friendly ways of producing cement. Whilst this is undergoing due process I do not think any new factories should be built for limestone production to support this outdated and environmentally disastrous and dangerous to all human and animal life.
