Submission: Support

Comments: I am writing in support of my neighbours' application for the retention of the stables and associated hardstanding.

When we purchased our property (Elizabeth Cottage), the land was divided and we acquired what were originally their stables, now located within our field. As a result, the neighbouring land no longer had its original stabling in place, and this development represents a logical and appropriate reinstatement of that use.

The stables are well located within their established equestrian fields, ensuring that horses are kept and managed within the land already used for that purpose. This is both practical and appropriate and aligns with the existing character and use of the surrounding area.

The development is in keeping with nearby equestrian structures, including our own, and sits comfortably within the local setting. In addition, the positioning of the stables has been carefully considered to minimise visual impact, and in our view does not detract from the character of the landscape.

There is also a clear safety benefit, as the location reduces the need for horses to be moved across the road.

For these reasons, we fully support the application and hope it will be viewed favourably.
