Submission: Objection
Comments: Dear Sirs,

With reference to planning application (HPK/2026/0079), land adjacent to Cemetery Road, Glossop, Derbyshire. I list my objections below against the planning application.

Public Right of Way

The submitted plans that support the planning application illustrate a threat to the public access through the site. The building work that has been undertaken to date has already limited public access and it would not be unreasonable to assume that the right of way will be restricted once horses are stabled on the land owing to the need to keep them and the public secure. Installing fencing and barriers will restrict public access through the site.

Increased Traffic on Cemetery Road

Granting planning permission for this development will increase road traffic along Cemetery Road. The junction to exit Cemetery Road is on a blind bend and increased traffic will lead to an increase in near misses and accidents. It is also worth noting that children regularly access the recreation facilities on Cemetery Road and there is a potential safety issue for children especially around the entrance to the cemetery and the recreation facilities which are in close proximity to the proposed entrance to the horse stables.

Recent signage that has appeared on Cemetery Road already asks motorists to slow down for horses. Increased traffic will affect equestrian safety of existing horses and riders on cemetery road if the planning permission was granted due to increased road volumes and the speed at which traffic travels along the road which is often above the speed limit for the road.

Parking Issues

There are already parking issues around the cemetery entrance with the cemetery being used as an unofficial overflow car park for the recreation facilities on cemetery road at the weekend. This is leading to issues accessing the cemetery and for those trying to find a safe place to park within the cemetery whilst visiting or for attending funerals.

Destruction of habitat

The building work that has already taken place has destroyed trees and hedge rows that supported a significant number of plants and animals which is leading to a significant reduction in the area's natural habitat. Not to mention the fact the building and stables that have been built are supportive of the area in general or in keeping with the surrounding dwellings and neighbouring properties.
